COLLECTION OF AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE EASTERN SHORE Now on line for public viewing

Weirwood, VA – Campbell Field Airport and photographer Gordon Campbell have assembled a large collection of aerial photographs of the Eastern Shore of Virginia. The public can view these photographs at no cost over the Internet. The Internet address is www.CampbellFieldAirport.com/AerialPhotos.html.

Over 2000 photographs are currently displayed with plans to add thousands more over the coming months. The coverage spans from the Bay Bridge Tunnel north to the town of Parksley and includes extensive coverage of the barrier islands. New photographs are uploaded to the Internet daily and coverage will eventually include most of the Delmarva Peninsula.

Mr. Campbell has an extensive background in photography and photofinishing, and is an avid aviator. Combining these passions to capture the natural beauty of the Eastern Shore has resulted in many beautiful aerial photographs of this area.

For more information see www.CampbellFieldAirport.com or call the airport at (757) 442-7519.
